Vetbed

The original and still the best

We started making this over twenty years ago and Vetbed Original is still the UK's market leading veterinary bedding. With its green backing, the Vetbed name on the back or on the ironed on washing instructions label you know you have one of the most versatile bedding products in the world.

More fibres for better heat retention

Unlike most other similar looking products, we make Vetbed with more fibres to give increased air retention and better thermal properties.

Built to last

Why choose cheaper bedding that doesn't last? Vetbed Original is made from 100% polyester that is woven to our unique specification. The fibres are knitted to the double layer backing at a high density for extra toughness, warmth and comfort. Independent tests prove that Vetbed has tremendous strength and durability. In normal domestic use Vetbed Original will last for many years.

Use on any surface

Vetbed Original's unique construction allows air to permeate the fibres, giving it superior drainage and drying properties. It keeps your pet warm and dry even on surfaces like concrete.

Machine washable

Vetbed Original is machine washable at up to 90°C and it dries quickly – a light brush whilst damp will maintain its condition. We recommend that you wash your Vetbed when you first buy it to help your pet settle quickly and minimise loose fibres.

Ideal for whelping or kitting

Where hygiene, comfort and security are the most important things to your pet, Vetbed Original's texture has been specially designed to give them the bedding they need and to be low maintenance for you. Vetbed Original's thick pile gives very young animals the extra grip they need to help them move around in those first few crucial weeks.

Why buy poor quality imitations?

Imitation is the greatest form of flattery. Over the years our competitors have tried to copy Vetbed Original.

When you buy Vetbed Original you are buying the best quality bedding that's made in the UK to our high standards. Isn't that what your pets deserve?

 ORIGINAL

The world's best selling veterinary bedding, loved by pets and their owners

For all ages

Vetbed Original was designed in consultation with vets to have a similar feel to real fur, helping younger animals to settle and feel more secure. Even if they have an accident they are still kept warm and dry.

Older animals enjoy improved comfort and mobility, compared to a lot of other bedding products, as the constant warmth from Vetbed aids muscles and joints.

For all locations

Vetbed is lightweight and can be packed into a surprisingly small space. So, in a strange environment like a car, caravan or hotel the familiar feel and smell of your pet's Vetbed ensures they arrive less stressed and are able to enjoy a break as much as you.

Vetbed is safe

Vetbed is non-irritant, stain resistant, non-toxic and hypoallergenic.

It can come with us on holiday to make us feel more at home when we're travelling.

It helps when we get old and arthritic and perhaps incontinent, when the drainage properties help us to stay dry.

It helps us feel warm and secure when we're tiny pups and kittens, all through our life.

It lasts so long we don't have to put up with having a new bed every year.
